

LITIGATION SUPPORT

The world of technology is constantly evolving, and even more so in the legal arena. Most cases today involve some form of electronically stored information and as such computer forensics and e-discovery are becoming a crucial part of case preparation. Call us and rest assured that we will make certain your electronic information is collected and stored correctly the first time.

Why worry with preparing PowerPoint presentations for your opening statement and closing arguments? Supply our Trial Technicians with the pertinent information and they will design these for you, allowing you to focus your time and efforts on more pressing issues.

Whatever your needs may be, Alpha Legal Solutions is committed to providing you with the resources and tools necessary to ensure your success. Let us become an integral member of your litigation team.

The complexity of cases involving electronically stored data is increasing every day and you need to know what to expect and what to search for. Call for a consultation with our computer forensics experts and let them roadmap your case with you.
