

Realtime Reporting

Alpha Reporting offers realtime reporting technology to help you maximize your effectiveness and efficiency. Realtime reporting is the simultaneous translation of testimony on an electronic stenotype machine connected to one or more laptop computers.

Using litigation support software, you have tremendous flexibility to make the most of a realtime deposition. Using streaming technology, you can allow all your team members live access to the deposition. Secure instant messaging allows realtime collaboration with your associates.

- Search transcripts during a deposition to identify and annotate key points
 - Using litigation support software, privately and instantly collaborate with off-site team members providing the ability to modify your approach
 - Accessibility tool for the hearing-impaired
 - Text and video can be streamed over the Internet, allowing team members to participate.
 - Save travel time and money using litigation support software and streaming technology
 - Alpha Reporting has the Mid-South's most experienced and certified realtime reporters
